SURVIVAL UNDER ATOMIC ATTACK

NOTE: The following material is taken in full from the official US Government booklet "Survival Under Atomic Attack" and is reproduced here through the efforts of the Hancock County Civil Defense Council with the cooperation of this newspaper.

To begin with, you must realize that atom splitting is just another way of causing an explosion. While an atom bomb holds more death and destruction than man has ever before wrapped in a single package, its total power is definitely limited. Not even hydrogen bombs could blow the earth apart or kill us all by mysterious radiation.

Because the power of all bombs is limited, your chances of living through an atomic attack are much better than you may have thought. In the City of Hiroshima, slightly over half the people who were a mile from the atomic explosion are still alive. At Nagasaki, almost 70 per cent of the people a mile from the bomb lived to tell their experiences. Today thousands of survivors of these two atomic attacks live in new houses built right where their old ones once stood. The war may have changed their way of life, but they are not riddled with cancer. Their children are normal. Those who were temporarily unable to have children because of the radiation now are having children again.

What are your chances?

If a modern A-bomb exploded without warning in the air over your home town tonight, your calculated chances of living through the raid would run something like this:

Should you happen to be one of the unlucky people right under the bomb, there is practically no hope of living through it. In fact, anywhere within one-half mile of the center of explosion, your chances of escaping are about 1 out of 10.

On the other hand, and this is the important point, from one-half to one mile away, you have a 50-50 chance.

From one to one and a half miles out, the odds that you will be killed are only 15 in 100.

And at points one and a half to two miles away, deaths drop all the way down to only two or three out of each 100.

Beyond two miles, the explosion will cause practically no deaths at all.

Naturally, your chances of being injured are far greater than your chances of being killed. But even injury by radioactivity does not mean that you will be left a cripple, or doomed to die an early death. Your chances of making a complete recovery are much the same as for everyday accidents. These estimates hold good for modern atomic bombs exploded without warning.

ENEMY CASUALTIES PASS 1,000,000 MARK

Washington—The Army estimated enemy casualties in Korea at 1,185,464 through June 30, an increase of 22,964 since the previous week.

Combined Chinese and Korean Red battle casualties were estimated at 860,300 and non-battle losses at 162,103, 749.

Enemy prisoners, by actual count, added 163,061 to those figures.

The prisoners included 16,970 Chinese and the remainder North Koreans.

The defense department has no comparative figures for total casualties among the United Nations forces in Korea. The last summary of US battle casualties, through June 22, totaled 76,749.

Army Authorized To Start Work At Camp Shelby

Washington—The House Armed Services Committee resumed work this week on the Defense Department's $16,262,000 global military construction plan.

The committee expected to finish the Army's program and then take up proposals of the Navy and Air Force.

At an unusual Saturday session last week the committee authorized the Army to start work on $714,381,000 worth of military construction in the United States.

The committee authorized the Army to set up nine strategically located mobilization centers on a stand-by basis. In event of sudden war, the centers could be put into operation in six weeks.

The committee was told that more land for the troop centers could be obtained and sewerage, lights, streets and other facilities put in for about $50,000,000. No barracks would be constructed and the camps would not be used unless large-scale mobilization comes.

The plan calls for the reactivation on stand-by basis of some camps used in World War II.

The centers and their proposed costs:

Camp Shelby, Miss., $7,355,450.

Camp McCain, Miss., $5,722,700.

Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., $4,321,300.

Camp Blanding, Fla., $5,722,700.

Camp Rucker, Ala., $1,387,390.

Camp Bowie, Tex., $8,382,300.

Camp Gruber, Okla., $9,113,700.

Camp Swift, Tex., $8,831,600.

Camp White, Ore., $11,285,300.

SOIL CONSERVATION NECESSARY TO GOOD FARMING, SAYS LEE

As a further step in consolidating the soil and water conservation efforts of the US Department of Agriculture, Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County PMA committee, says that arrangements have been made for the Soil Conservation Service to be responsible for the technical phases of the Agricultural Conservation Program.

This would be for such practices as ponds, drainage ditches, and similar practices.

The technical services needed will be provided either by SCS personnel or qualified persons under their direction, Mr. Lee says. He urged farmers of Hancock County who are cooperating in the ACP and who intend to carry out soil and water conservation practices to request technical assistance to make arrangements for such assistance early to avoid delay and to give the county PMA committee an opportunity to make the best use of this technical service.

Mr. Lee says the SCS responsibility includes checking on the need for the practices, location, layout, any necessary supervision in construction and determining if the practices have been carried out in accordance with requirements to qualify for assistance under the ACP.

In Hancock County, Mr. J. L. Bishop of the Soil Conservation Service will be in charge of this phase of the soil and water conservation work of ACP, he said. Arrangements for this service may be made with the county PMA committee, or Mr. Bishop, the Soil Conservation Service representative.

Mr. Lee looks upon this consolidation of effort in conservation as a forward step in building better farms in Hancock County.

Fiscal Year Ends With Big Surplus

Washington—The government's income topped its spending by $3,509,782,624 for the 12 months ending with June 30.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced this budget surplus for the fiscal year 1951.

It was the second biggest surplus in the nation's history, and was in marked contrast to a deficit of over $3,122,000,000 in fiscal 1950.

Snyder reported that, in round numbers, the government came out this way in fiscal 1951.

It took in $48,143,000,000 in receipts, or over $11,000,000,000 more than it collected the preceding year.

It spent $44,633,000,000, about $4,400,000,000 more than in fiscal 1950.

Snyder told a news conference he was "deeply gratified" with the 1951 results, but said the government "is faced with the prospect of a budget deficit of approximately $10,000,000,000 in the year which is just beginning unless appropriate new taxes are enacted as soon as possible."

The budget surplus represents the sum of income over outgo in the bookskeeping budget, but in a strict cash basis, the bookskeeping budget account is $5,100,000,000 more than paid out, leaving the government with a $4,500,000,000 additional to the $3,510,000,000 bookskeeping budget surplus.

With the bookskeeping budget sum and use of $465,000,000 in the trust account receipts, the treasury paid off $2,135,000,000 in government debt during fiscal 1951, leaving the account outstanding $25,222,000,000.

The treasury had added $1,239,000,000 to its cash balance, "which leaves," Mr. Snyder said, "an anticipated $1,000,000,000 increase in debt over the next few years."

Snyder told congressional committees that as in the past he does not expect to see the debt go up to $13,000,000,000 in the next three

SCS OF AGRICULTURE

Mr. J. L. Bishop, Chairman of the Hancock County PMA committee, was entertained by the State PMA committee on Friday evening at the Hotel New Orleans. The group, which includes the State PMA committee, which provides clothing necessities for young mothers who are unable to purchase them, drives over from New Orleans for the annual meeting.

A short business meeting preceded the social hour, during which it was decided that the hearings would be delayed for the summer season.

The dinner was a flower dinner, which was organized by the PTA of New Orleans. New Orleans was won by Mrs. Alfred Lawrence.

In addition to the above-mentioned those attending were Mrs. Bertha Rosenthal, Mrs. J. L. Mittelstaedt, Mrs. Harry Bonner, Mrs. William McDonald, Mrs. Harry F. Downer, Mrs. Albert S. Halligan, Mrs. August Abramson, Mrs. Leo B. Blessing, Miss Mary Lynn Abramson, and Miss Almeda Watermeier, all of New Orleans.

MISS. LIONS BAND WINS HONORS - L. SCHARFF A MEMBER

News comes that the Mississippi State Lion's Band, consisting of one hundred members, won the first prize for amateur juvenile bands in a parade in Atlanta, Ga., on Monday last, featuring the Lions International 34th annual convention.

The band is comprised of Mississippi High School student and is directed by Roy M. Martin of the Greenwood, Miss., High School system.

It is scheduled to give a concert in Washington, DC on Thursday, June 28.

Included in the band are several well known boys, Larry Scharff, a local honor student, a member.

DRIVERS LICENSE EXPIRATION DATES LISTED: CHECK YOURS

Col. Birdsong reminds the public by stating, "Your drivers license is good for a two year period. There are four expiration dates: December 31, March 31, June 30 and September 30."

Miss Lena Brock, Director of the Drivers License Division, asks that you "check your drivers license to be sure they don't expire this month. If they do expire, go to the Sheriff's office, City Clerk or Drivers License Bureau in Jackson, and get it renewed."

CHRYSLER PROVES EFFECTIVENESS OF NEWSPAPER ADS

Because of the effectiveness of the newspaper advertising campaigns during the first half of 1951 Chrysler will use more than 6,000 newspapers to carry its July safety message to the public, reports John H. Caron, Director of Advertising, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Representing a combined circulation of over 51,000,000, the newspaper list was drawn up to obtain maximum circulation penetration into the more than 3,000 counties in the United States that are served by Chrysler dealers.

"The effectiveness of our hard-hitting advertising program has helped build public acceptance so thoroughly that Chrysler dealers at present have about 35,000 firm orders for our FirePower V-8 models," Caron reported.

Caron said that both new and used car stocks of Chrysler dealers are well below normal, a condition which he declared was largely due to the effectiveness of the advertising program.

"Our advertising has been concentrated on educating the public to the advantages inherent in the new 180 horsepower FirePower V-8 engine, explaining how this engine's designed-in "mechanical octane" make regular grade gas do what premium gases can't do in any other engine you can drive today," Caron said.

The advertising is prepared and released by McCann-Erickson, Inc., Chrysler's national advertising agency.

Cotton, Corn, Pasture Recovering from Drought

State College, Miss.—Cotton, corn and pasture all show favorable recovery from the drought, according to agricultural extension service county agents and specialists.

Some cotton in the southern part of the state was reported as "well up and covered with blooms, even some small bolls," while in the central and northern part of the state older cotton is in good shape for cultivation by machinery although younger cotton must depend on hand chopping, they reported.

A few more days free of rains should see the cotton in the delta out of the grass, said T. M. Waller, extension cotton production specialist.

Cotton looking good with little insect damage, was the report from Copiah county agent, C. C. Stone, Hazlehurst. Farmers are continuing to spray or dust according to recommendations, he added.

Indications are for another high corn yield in the county this year since the rains came, he said.

Tomatoes are showing damage from rain and the quality is poor, he stated adding that the market is "extremely slow."

Approximately 75 Copiah county 4-H Club boys and girls plan to attend the 4-H training center at Magnolia State Park, Ocean Springs, beginning Thursday, he announced.

Mr. Tom C. King Opens "Playland" Child and Infant Minding Service

Mr. Tom C. King has announced he will institute a service to mothers whereby their children will be safe for the hour or by the day, in King home on Jeff Davis in West Point. This service will enable mothers to go shopping tours or to indulge in social affairs from the responsibility of care for a few hours.

"Playland" has spacious grounds, a room to be used in inclement weather, a shoot-the-shoot and other toys; reading matter for children, and TV hour entertainment. The grounds are completely enclosed, insuring safety.

Mr. King will have planned meals for babies and will make up for the infants. She is a registered nursing graduate from the South Baptist Hospital in New Orleans. During the war years she was in most of the major hospitals in the country. She specialized in pediatrics and is highly qualified to take on a venture as "Playland." She will be permitted to leave their

FEDERAL PAYROLLS INCREASE 1000 A DAY

Washington—Senator Byrd (D-Va) said civilian employment in the executive branch of the government increased in May at a rate of more than 1000 a day.

Total employment reached 2,443,076 a net increase during the month of 33,955, Byrd said. Of the total increase, 25,196 civilians were added to the payroll by the military establishment.

Byrd issued a statement in his capacity as chairman of the Senate-House committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures.

Municipalities Will Ask Penny State Sales Tax

Mississippi municipalities will go before the next session of the legislature asking for a penny of the state's sales tax.

At the concluding business session of the Mississippi Municipal Association's annual meeting at Buena Vista, Biloxi, delegates gave unanimous endorsement to a proposal that the cities and towns ask for the one-cent sales tax revenue, half to be used in the general operating fund, the other half to be earmarked for schools.

Mayor Thompson McClellan of West Point threw in the proposal during a discussion of the association's legislative program for the coming year.

"Our municipalities have been step-children long enough," Mayor McClellan said. "Our cities and towns have got to get away from the ad valorem tax field and modernize their tax structures along lines already followed by federal and state governments."

During the past 12 years, Mayor McClellan said, federal taxes have jumped 400 percent; the national average for state tax increases is 200 percent, while the cities and towns have been allowed average increase of only three percent.

The cities will also ask the legislature for a longer amount on the fire insurance tax, with fewer restrictions than are now imposed on the spending of these funds.

The business of the convention closed and Mayor McClellan's discussion of the legislative program followed an outstanding analysis of income and operation of Mississippi cities by M. M. Winkler, Clayton Rand, Gulfport, spoke on "Crackpottery in the Golden Age."

Mr. Rand described MacArthur's address to Congress as "the turning point of modern times." He said it had a clarifying effect on the thinking of the American people.

"The American people have gone too global in their thinking. We've gone so completely global that we've lost sight of the place in which we live."

Thompson McClellan, West Point, was elected president; Jewel H. Campbell, Brookhaven, vice-president, and Geo. Lemon Sugg, Jackson, Manager.

Mayor Cooper Green of Birmingham, president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and immediate past president of the United States Conference of mayors, told the Mississippi Municipal Association that towns and cities have been caught in the "straight-jacket" of state and federal moves which have "preempted the taxation of which have "preempted the taxation of dire problems of crime, delinquency, traffic and slum clearance, he told the Mississippi audience, cannot be met because of the lack of sufficient operating revenue.

"We know what our problems are, and we know the answer to most of them, but we don't have the money to solve them," he told the Mississippi association.

Mayor Green was speaker at the annual banquet held at the Buena Vista Hotel.

Other speakers during the day included Robert Straub, assistant attorney general of Alabama, who discussed Alabama's experiences in extending social security to municipal employees; and J. P. Coleman, attorney general of Mississippi who warned that the hour has come to give practical support to solving the municipal problem. Almost all of the cities and towns in the United States are regulated by state legislatures.

Describing local self government as "the bedrock of American freedom," Mr. Coleman declared that "too much has been said, and too little done" on behalf of the cities and towns where

During the war years she was in most of the major hospitals in the country. She specialized in pediatrics and is highly qualified to take on a venture as "Playland." She will be permitted to leave their children with Mrs. King with perfect safety and assurance.

"Playland" will be open every day from Monday through Friday, beginning Monday, July 9. A mother may bring her child as early as it is necessary for her to use the commuter's train. For information concerning details, call Mrs. King at 663-5.

WOMEN FIGHT

Women lawyers of France have won some successes at the bar. The Paris bar only wins their cases 60 percent, the Paris women 70 percent. Several have been married to their attorneys and a dozen or more married judges. Some believe the women are lucky ones.

There are 1,170 women barristers in France. 614 of them in Paris. But they declined their present position only after a hard fight.

The bearded deputies debated the measure, General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, and Author Jean-Paul Attal, among others, were present. One also represented the interests of several American attorneys in Paris.

Other leading women in Paris courts are Mme. Simone Penot and Mme. Suzanne Levy. One, Mme. Charlotte Le Gidec, is a judge of appeal and sits in the highest court.

Chickens which have lost their tradi-onal hen-house odor also are raised at Calumet. These chickens are housed in wire cages each of which is capable of holding 50 broilers.

Each week 300 new chicks arrive at the farm and 300 fully grown broilers are killed, cleaned, and readied for the market. Most of the supply is sold to the two local country clubs. The remainder goes to trade establishments.

The farm also conducts extensive operations in fields and pastures, the care and up-keep, which involve cutting harrow, chain harrows, reseeding of grass and clover, the distribution of fertilizer, and the science of weed control.

Virtually, everything that comes off the farm is utilized. Even the tobacco stalks are ground for use as fertilizer.

Calumet Farm has only one general operation—the raising and breeding of superior horses. This is the reason that the farm has, on several occasions, become the first home of such famous thoroughbreds as we have seen or read about on the turf.

Remember the melon season is short.

Don't let it pass and then wish you had enjoyed this fruit more often. Can-taloupe, honeydew, and watermelons will help make summer more enjoyable.

In choosing a cantaloupe, don't pinch

it. A slight softening at the blossom end may indicate ripe melon, but it does not by any means promise an infallible test. Other pinches before you may have softened the fruit. A better test is to look for a slightly sunken, smooth, well-caloused scar where the stem has been and for a course nothing that actually stands out in bold relief over the melon's entire surface.

In storing cantaloupes, wash them and allow to dry, then wrap well in wax paper and store in refrigerator.

Cantaloupes love to "mingle" so it's better to keep flavors to themselves.

They should be well chilled but never guilty, as one honest I know long ago of putting crushed ice in the cavity to chill the fruit. You can imagine the result.

In case you don't know it, watermelons do not freeze. The moment they are taken from the freezer they lose all their crispness and go flat.

This is because the water cells have been damaged by the excessive temperature. However, someone told me that watermelons can be frozen if it is cut up and put into cartons. I have not proven this so you can take my word for it, if you wish.

While we are on the subject, I have heard, too, that boiled crab could not be frozen. But, I have done this successfully. I have also frozen soft-shell crab without any ill effects.

Did you ever try cantaloupe with mint sauce poured over it, or melted mint jelly? It is different and quite a change from the usual smattering of salt or scoop of ice-cream.

Why not keep a jar of chocolate syrup in the refrigerator for drinks, sauces, etc? I have a simple recipe for a good one. I find the ready prepared chocolate sauces either too bitter for my taste or too thick—although the thick variety can be nicely thinned with evaporated milk to the desired consistency. Here is a recipe that my sister passed on to me—

CHOCOLATE SYRUP

Stir well and boil for five minutes.

2 1/2 cups sugar 2 cups water

1/2 cup peanut butter 2 cups raisins

3 cups coconut (or 2 cups of Bran flakes) 1 cup chopped nuts

2 cups well-chopped dates

Drop by teaspoonful onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven

(375) for 12 minutes or until brown.

Remove from sheet at once. Makes 30

2 1/2 diameter cookies. Very good.

And—someone sends me a recipe for broccoli salad. I haven't tried it but here it is if you would like to:

Chop raw flowerettes of broccoli from a washed bunch. Sprinkle this with salt and pepper. Add enough salad oil to moisten lightly, and two tablespoons of lemon juice. Mix well and chill.

Cut up four peeled tomatoes and add to broccoli. Add 1/2 cup of sour cream and blend in one teaspoon of prepared mustard. Mix well and serve in lettuce cups. Makes a sufficient amount for from four to six persons.

Abbott & Costello Meet The Invisible Man at Hi-Way
Sun., Mon. & Tues., 8-9-10

One of their best. The combined genius of screenplay writer Robert Lest, Frederic L. Rinaldo and John Grant are in profusion, some corny, some fast and smooth, always extracting the most from situations one can imagine in the pair meeting and having as friend an invisible man.

Graduated by a detective school and not too bright, Abbott and Costello, in their first case, are entangled in bedevils of a gory crime and mystery. A prizefighter framed for murdering his manager uses disappearance spitoff. Well, that's progress. It's also done a lot to ease bad tempers.

A joint meeting of the American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary met in the new Legion home June 26 for the purpose of installing officers for 1951-52. The meeting was called to order by Commander Fred Rayard. Mrs. D. C. Norman, District President, of Gulfport, installed the officers for the Ladies Auxiliary. Mr. Carl Alfonso, District Commander, installed the Legion officers. The assembly sang the "Star Spangled Banner" accompanied by Mrs. Marie Bordages at the piano and Miss Louise Armstrong, violin.

Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The prayer was by Chaplain Laurent Dixon. The meeting closed with the singing of "God Bless America." Delicious refreshments were served to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carri spent the week end in Waveland.

Mr. Walter Turcotte and Miss Shirley Turcotte were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turcotte on Bordages Lane.

Mrs. Edgar Johnson of Market Street spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ladner spent the week end in their home on Market Street.

The summer season is in full swing at Dielman Evangelical Center on Beach Boulevard. This week a junior group from the Evangelical Reform Church in New Orleans is enjoying their stay there. At present there are thirty-eight children taking part in the studies and recreational activities provided at the camp. They are under the direction of Mrs. L. Seybold.

Teachers for the group are Mrs. Engenberger, Mr. Millet and Miss Moldaner.

On Tuesday the group played baseball and the victorious team was "Sally's Ball Team" which walked off with a score of 12-0.

Have you had the unhappy experience of turning on the faucet and --- and nothing? That's what, nothing! Anyone who lives in the vicinity of Market Street and Beach Boulevard has experienced this lack of water and at one time some of the residents of this area threatened to go around and personally destroy "personal" pumps. Today it is a different story. Even on Sunday when all the New Orleans folks are over, happy home owners can water the flowers, wash the dishes or even take a shower — luxury which never could be enjoyed in the days BP.

Before the Pump, that is. Recently a new pump was installed by the Water Works on Market Street and whoever is responsible for this pump and the relieving of the lack of water certainly deserves the thanks of folks who now have so much water pressure the old pipes groan every time you open a
